YIELD ON MULTITHREADED PROCESSORS

Abstract of the Disclosure

An apparatus, program product and method accommodate conventional yield calls within a multithreaded processor environment by coordinating yielding threads within the hypervisor. A hypervisor coordinates the yielding threads within the hypervisor to ensure all threads on a multithreaded processor execute within the same partition or hypervisor.